

1. What is one way you have suffered as a result of following Jesus? What is an area of life where you think suffering for Jesus may come?
2. Why is it so hard to remember who you are as a child of God when suffering swirls around you and life hurts deeply? What often helps you remember practically?
3. What is it about suffering that provides unique opportunities to share our hope (i.e. how does suffering clarify where our hope is)?
4. What does heart preparation look like to be ready to share your hope in suffering?
5. What is one story, verse, key point that you would use to share your hope with someone who asks about it?
6. Do you feel guilty about missed opportunities to share your hope? How does Jesus' suffering for your sins to bring you to God or Peter's story of fear, failure, and forgiveness encourage you?
